Polling Place Scenarios

1. A voter shows up to vote at the polls and the register indicates an absentee has been issued. How should election judges handle this voter?

Election Administration FAQs

Polling Place Scenarios

1. The judges should issue a provisional ballot to the voter that can be resolved when it is determined that the absentee ballot was not returned.

Election Administration FAQs

Polling Place Scenarios

2. A voter takes another person into the voting booth with them. What should the election judge do?

Election Administration FAQs

ের

Polling Place Scenarios

2. The law is clear that no more than one individual may occupy a voting station, however election judges may not have any way to know if the voter needs assistance in some way, including but not limited to assistance reading the ballot, and in order to preserve the privacy of the voter, elections judges should not try to police any instance in which a voter takes another person into the voting booth.

Election Administration FAQs

ﾂﾂ

Polling Place Scenarios

3. Do we have to post a list of absentee voters at the polling place? Can we just provide such a list to the election judges?

Election Administration FAQs

Polling Place Scenarios

3. The law requires that a certificate containing a list of everyone issued an absentee ballot be posted at each polling place for each precinct. This is an important part of the transparency of the election process.

Polling Place Scenarios

4.   A voter comes to the polling place to vote but does not have photo ID, how should this be handled?

Election Administration FAQs

Polling Place Scenarios

4. The voter can provide non-photo ID such as a utility bill, paycheck stub or other government document that shows the voter's name and current address OR can be provided with the Polling Place Elector ID Form if no other form of ID is available.

Election Administration FAQs

Polling Place Scenarios

5. The voter's address on the photo ID used at the polls does not match the address in the precinct register, what should the register judge do?

Election Administration FAQs

Polling Place Scenarios

5. When providing photo ID at the polls, it is not necessary to verify that the address on the ID matches the address in the precinct register. (The register judge should provide a VR form to the voter and request that they update their registration for the next election if their address has changed.)

Election Administration FAQs

Polling Place Scenarios

6. Election Judges have always put pencils in the voting booths, is this still OK?

Election Administration FAQs

Polling Place Scenarios

6. No – voting booths should be supplied with blue or black ink pens only. At one time pencils were used, but with the new tabulator technology, pens are the best option. Additionally, using pens instead of pencils is a more permanent mark in case ballots are opened for a recount or court challenge.

Election Administration FAQs

Polling Place Scenarios

7. A voter was marked as absentee in the precinct register, but the judges let the individual sign the register and vote a regular ballot anyway, and the ballot was deposited with other polling place ballots. When we processed registers, it was discovered that the absentee ballot had been voted and accepted.

Polling Place Scenarios

7. Although it happens rarely, this is one of the most critical errors made by election judges. It is important to train them on this issue, and to review with them if they make the error. Sometimes the voter has forgotten they voted absentee, sometimes it's confusion when there are multiple elections going on. If the judges don't let the voter know that they have an absentee ballot issued, they may have reason to think everything is fine when they vote at the polls. (You should turn the voting information over to your county attorney to investigate right away.)

Late Registration Scenarios

1. A voter shows up in person during the late registration period but does not want nor receive a ballot – is the voter a late registrant?

Election Administration FAQs

Late Registration Scenarios

1. No. Late registrants should always be issued an absentee ballot at the time of late registration. If they are not issued a ballot for the election, you can register them as an Active registrant with a vote eligible date of the day after the election, but do not make them a late registrant.

Election Administration FAQs

Late Registration Scenarios

2. A voter comes in to late register after noon on the day before the election. Is the voter a late registrant, even if they don't come back the next day for a ballot?

Election Administration FAQs

Late Registration Scenarios

2. No, the voter is not a late registrant unless and until they return to the late registration location on election day and are issued a ballot. Unless and until they do so, register them as Active with a vote eligible date of the day after election day.

Election Administration FAQs

Late Registration Scenarios

3. In what instances do we register MVD registrants as late registrants? If we receive their PDF registration form and it is signed after the close of regular registration, do we register them as a late registrant?

Election Administration FAQs

Late Registration Scenarios

3. Unless and until MVD registrants come into the office for late registration and receive a ballot, they are not late registrants. If their signed PDF registration form is dated after the close of regular registration, you can register them as Active with a vote eligible date of the day after election day.

Late Registration Scenarios

4. What are the dates that we need to enter for late registrants in MT Votes?

Election Administration FAQs

Late Registration Scenarios

4. For the Vote Eligible Date, always use the Sunday before the close of regular registration (this year, the date is October 9, 2016). For the County Registration Date, use whatever date that you are registering them. Do not use the Sunday vote eligible date for non late-registrants (unless they are provisional registrants who are late registering).

Election Administration FAQs

Provisionals

5. What is the difference between a provisional registrant and a provisional ballot?

Election Administration FAQs

ﬦ

Provisionals

5. People are registered as provisional if they fail to provide a verifiable DLN or partial SSN. People are issued a provisional ballot if their identity or eligibility to vote comes into question and is not resolved. (example: election day transfer registrants are given provisional ballots but ARE NOT provisionally registered)

Election Administration FAQs

Provisionals

6. Is the ballot sent to a provisional registrant automatically treated as a provisional ballot?

Election Administration FAQs

Provisionals

6. The ballots sent to provisional registrants do not need to be issued as provisional or treated as provisional unless, when you receive the ballot from the voter, the registrant still fails to provide a verifiable DLN or partial SSN.

Election Administration FAQs

ↂ

Source of Registration

7. Why is it important to update the source of registration, even if we receive a duplicate voter registration?

Election Administration FAQs

 application

Source of Registration

7. Interest groups are closely watching states' sources of registration, especially for MVD and public assistance agency voter registrations, to see if all agencies are sending them and counties are receiving them. If counties do not change the source of registration (even in the duplicate tab) then there is no way to prove that counties are receiving the VR applications.

Election Administration FAQs

Source of Registration

8. How should we track the source of a duplicate voter registration?

Election Administration FAQs

Source of Registration

8. In Montana Votes, use the Duplicate Voter Registration tab. If you use the Duplicate Voter Registration tab, you do not need to change the source of voter registration in the Registration tab, but be sure to add it in the Duplicate Registration tab.

Election Administration FAQs

9. What if in one set of MVD reports there are multiple VR applications for one voter, with only a small change between them (especially one that looks like a typographical change)?

Election Administration FAQs

ভ

Source of Registration

9. When you receive the MVD PDFs, and there are multiple PDFs for the same voter in the same extract, you should enter the PDF with the most recent date and time. MVD offices often correct errors the same day they are made, and generate a new application form each time they correct an error, so you do not have to enter each of them, especially if the only change is typographical.

Election Administration FAQs

Undeliverable Ballots

10. In a federal election, if we receive a ballot back undeliverable, do we send an NVRA notice right away and inactivate them during the even year if the notice is returned undeliverable, like in odd-year mail ballot elections?

Election Administration FAQs

 date

Undeliverable Ballots

10. No – when you receive a federal election ballot back undeliverable, as a courtesy you can follow up with a forwardable notice, but you cannot inactivate the voter between the primary and general or during the even year. You must wait to conduct the NVRA process in the odd year (by sending two notices to the non-voter, and then inactivating if you do not receive any response)

Election Administration FAQs

Undeliverable Ballots

11. In a federal election, if we receive a ballot back undeliverable, and we investigate the reason for return, what if the voter tells us their new mailing address over the phone? What if it is also the voter's new residence address?

Election Administration FAQs

Undeliverable Ballots

11. You can mail a ballot to a voter based on their statement over the phone that they have a new mailing address, but do not update their mailing address in MT Votes (except in the "resend" field) unless and until you receive their signature envelope or other document on which they confirm their address.

However, even if the mailing address is also their new residence address, the ballot you send would still be based on their old residence address, not on their new residence address, unless they come into your office for late registration.

Election Administration FAQs

Undeliverable Ballots

12. Do we need to receipt in undeliverable ballots? Do we need to wait until all undeliverable ballots come back in order to close our election? Do we need to reopen our election if we receive an undeliverable ballot after we have already closed our election?

Election Administration FAQs

Undeliverable Ballots

12. You should receipt in your undeliverable ballots before you close your election, but you do not need to wait to close your election until you have received all undeliverable ballots. You should NOT reopen a closed election to receipt in undeliverable ballots, as this can cause serious problems.

Voting System Testing

5. What is a test deck?

Election Administration FAQs

Voting System Testing

5.   A collection of marked ballots that generates the predetermined outcome set forth by a ballot key in order to verify the efficacy of tabulator software. The number of ballots is based on the race with the most ballot positions and the number of ballot styles.

Election Administration FAQs

Voting System Testing

5. What is a ballot key?

Election Administration FAQs

Voting System Testing

5. A spreadsheet that contains the candidates and races for each ballot style that is used to create a test deck to verify tabulator results with a predetermined outcome.

Election Administration FAQs

ଔ

Voting System Testing

5. On a ballot key, each candidate should have a different number of total votes. Do not mark 5 votes for Candidate A and 5 votes for Candidate B. This will not reveal any errors in the tabulation software.

Election Administration FAQs

Voting System Testing

6. Why do I need to use a test deck?

Election Administration FAQs

ભ

Voting System Testing

6. To determine if tabulators are reading each ballot position, that votes are counted accurately, that ballots are being sorted correctly, and ballot styles are being properly recognized.

Election Administration FAQs

Voting System Testing

7. Who creates the test deck?

Election Administration FAQs

303

Voting System Testing

7. Test decks should be created by the election office and ballots should be marked in the same way they will be marked by the voter. Do not use test decks provided by voting system vendor.

Election Administration FAQs

Voting System Testing

9. When do I build the test deck?

Election Administration FAQs

Voting System Testing

9. As soon as ballots are available. The sooner a problem is detected with the election software, the sooner the vendor can resolve the issue and replace defective media.

Election Administration FAQs

Voting System Testing

10. What needs to be contained in a test deck?

Election Administration FAQs

Voting System Testing

10. At least one over-voted ballot, one under-voted ballot, one blank ballot, a ballot that contains marginal marks, and any foreseen anomaly that might cause tabulator error (e.g. folds, etc.)

Election Administration FAQs

Voting System Testing

11. How many ballots do I need in a test deck?

Election Administration FAQs

Voting System Testing

11. The number of ballots depends upon the number of candidates in the largest race and the number of ballot styles/splits.

Election Administration FAQs

Voting System Testing

11. If there are 10 ballot styles and the largest race contains 4 ballot positions (3 candidates and a write-in), the test deck should contain at least 100 ballots.

UOCAVA

12. What is the MOVE Act?

Election Administration FAQs

UOCAVA

12. The Military and Overseas Voter Empowerment Act amended UOCAVA by providing greater protections for service members, their eligible family members, and overseas citizens.

Election Administration FAQs

UOCAVA

12. The MOVE Act requires states to send absentee ballots to UOCAVA voters at least 45 days before federal elections and allows UOCAVA voters to track receipt of their ballots (My Voter Page). This is why it's important that receipt of a UOCAVA ballot be entered into MT Votes immediately.

Election Administration FAQs
