CHAPTER 1 – GENERAL INFORMATION

OVERVIEW

Everybody knows what a notary public does, right? Actually, there is much misunderstanding and confusion about what the proper role and duties of a notary are. A notary public does not “legalize” documents, or verify the accuracy or truthfulness of the content or statements made in a document. As Milt Valera, Chairman of the National Notary Association, noted in the Foreword to Professor Closen’s Notary Best Practices, a notary public is the “trusted impartial witness in ensuring that acts of attestation vital to commerce and law are executed legally, securely, and ethically”

A notary public is a public official commissioned by the Secretary of State to administer oaths and affirmations, take acknowledgments, witness signatures, and perform other duties as permitted by state law. A notary has a legal obligation to know Montana notary laws and to follow the standards of reasonable care for performing every authorized notarial act.

As a public official, a notary is not acting on behalf of him/herself or his/her employer when performing a notarial act, but rather, on behalf of the state of Montana.

RESOURCES

The second main source of information for Montana notaries are the web pages of the Notary & Certifications Division section of the Secretary of State’s website: <https://sosmt.gov/Notary>.

Save this link to your favorites so it’s handy whenever the need arises. The website contains the most current information for notaries. You can download any of our current forms, link directly to the available online notary training courses, or register for one of the webinars or live training classes, among other things. The website is always available and is very user friendly.

We urge you to take a few minutes to familiarize yourself with the information and format of both the handbook and the website so that you can find the answers to your questions quickly and easily.

You should never attempt to complete a request for notarial services until you fully understand what you are doing. The job of a notary public is much more complex than most people realize. It is your responsibility to know what you can and cannot do, what you are supposed to do, and how to do your job correctly. These resources are designed to help you – take advantage of them! You are also welcome to contact the staff of the Notary and Certifications Division by phone at (406) 444-1877 or email: sosnotary@mt.gov with any questions or concerns.

THE NOTARY'S FUNCTION

As noted above, the notary acts as an official, unbiased witness to certain specific transactions. Regardless of the notarial act performed, in every instance the notary attests that particular formalities have been observed that render the notarized document trustworthy. Notaries must constantly be aware that every notarial act affects the legal rights of others. Carelessness or negligence by the notary may injure these rights. Upon conviction of a violation of these rights, the notary may be punished as provided by law.

Integrity and skill are required of notaries in the discharge of their duties, for the mere mechanical performance of their office does not ensure the added degree of authenticity that is the hallmark of the notarial act. Simply affixing your seal and signing your name does not constitute a proper notarization in the state of Montana. In fact, §1-5-625(1)(d), MCA specifically prohibits that practice. As you go through this handbook, pay very close attention to the exact requirements for various notarial acts. A notary may be held personally responsible for improper, negligent, or fraudulent actions.

THE NOTARY'S RESPONSIBILITY

If one of the notary's primary functions is to be a witness to the identity, the comprehension, and the intent of a person who is signing a document, taking an oath, or acknowledging a signature, it automatically follows that one of the notary's greatest responsibilities is to be able to truthfully testify that the notary did in fact witness the act he or she claimed to have notarized. In other words, the person whose signature, oath, or acknowledgment is being notarized MUST personally appear to the notary at the time the act takes place. Even when performing remote notarial acts, the personal appearance of the signer is required at the time of the notarization.

There are no exceptions to this requirement. It is impossible to be a witness to an event if it does not take place in your presence. "Notarizing" without the personal appearance of the signer at the time of the notarial act is a direct violation of Montana law and can be just cause for revocation of your notarial commission.

RULE # 1

*The person whose signature, oath, or acknowledgment is being notarized MUST personally appear to the notary at the time the notarial act takes place. EVERY TIME!

INTEGRITY AND IMPARTIALITY

A notary public is expected to be a person of proven integrity appointed by the Secretary of State to act as the state's "official witness" in any matter requiring the notary's services. Because the primary purpose of the notary is to deter fraud, the notary's truthfulness must be unquestionable.

Every notarial act performed by a notary public is done under the notary's oath of office and the statement made on every notarial certificate completed by a notary public is done under that oath. If the notarial certificate states that the document was "signed before" the notary, that's exactly what the notary's official testimony is claiming: The document was signed in the notary's presence. If the notary certificate contains the words "subscribed and sworn to before me", that, too, means the document was signed in the notary's presence and the notary administered an oath to the signer, who swore under penalty of perjury that the statements and information contained in the document were true and correct to the best of his or her knowledge.

The words contained in the notarial certificate are not mere formalities; they are the notary's "witness statement" telling what happened, where it happened, when it happened, and who was involved. The accuracy and completeness of every notarial certificate is a fundamental expectation of the office.

FEES

Montana notaries may charge for performing notarial acts. The maximum fee allowed for taking acknowledgements, witnessing signatures, performing jurats, certifying copies of documents or certifying a fact, photograph, or that a person is alive is $10. Notaries may charge a travel fee if (1) the notary explains to the person requesting the notarial act that the travel fee is in addition to the statutory maximum fee for the notarial act and is an amount not determined by law and the person requesting the notarial act agrees in advance to the amount of the travel fee; or (2) the fee charged is equal to or less than the standard mileage rate allowed by the Internal Revenue Service. Notaries may also charge an additional fee for performing notarial acts using communication technology. Notaries who charge for notarial work must publish their fee schedules in English. The law presumes that it is the notary who may charge for notarial services. Fees charged by notaries who work in the private sector may be collected by the notary's employer only if the notary agrees to that. The fees collected for notarial services by notaries who work in a public (government) office belong to that office.

NOTARY LIABILITY

Montana case law holds the notary personally responsible for any damages resulting from the notary's official misconduct. Notaries are required to file a $25,000 surety bond when they apply for a new or subsequent commission. Many notaries think that the bond is insurance that protects them; that is not the case. The bond is posted to cover damages incurred by a victim of the notary's negligence or malfeasance. If a successful claim is made against the notary's bond, the notary will have to pay the bonding company back and cover any losses in excess of $25,000 as well. Montana does not require notaries to obtain liability insurance; however, it is wise to discuss the need for such coverage with an insurance professional.

A properly kept notary journal is the very best protection that a notary can have. It provides prima facie evidence that the notarial information on a document is true and correct and that the signer had personally appeared to the notary and had been properly identified when the notarization took place.

JURISDICTION

Montana notaries have jurisdiction to perform their official duties in every county in Montana, not just the county in which they live or work. In some cases, a Montana notary public may perform a traditional notarial act on a tangible document when the notary is physically in either of two adjoining states – North Dakota and Wyoming. Even when performing a notarization in either North Dakota or Wyoming, a Montana notary must always follow the laws and rules of Montana. The statutes that allow this practice are dependent on both Montana and the reciprocal state. Questions about any restrictions or special requirements must be discussed with the appropriate Secretary of State's office.

The jurisdiction for performing remote notarizations, however, is different: The notary must always be physically located in Montana at the time of the notarization. Jurisdiction for remote or remote online notarizations is determined by the physical location of the notary – not the signer. So, literally, a Montana notary may perform a notarization for anyone located anywhere in the world, but only if the notary is in Montana! It's a whole new world!

There is often some confusion about whether a Montana notary can notarize a document that came from or is going to another state or country. The basic rule is if the signer is personally appearing to the notary, and the notary is physically located within the geographic allowed jurisdiction, the notarization may be performed. For example, if a person has a document that was created in Florida, but is currently in Montana and requests that his signature be notarized, a Montana notary may provide the service (as long as all other conditions are met, of course). There is nothing that inherently prevents a Montana notary from notarizing documents that originated outside of Montana or that will later be used outside of Montana. Remember, however, that the notary must be careful to correctly identify the venue (the state and county where the notarization was actually performed) on the document. Many times this information will be entered on the pre-printed certificate (i.e., "State of Florida, County of Broward") and the Montana notary will have to cross out the incorrect venue and enter the correct information (i.e., "State of Montana, County of _____").

CHAPTER 2 – BECOMING A NOTARY PUBLIC

There are certain procedures that must be observed in order to obtain a notary commission from the state of Montana. Applying for a Montana notary commission is a multi-step process and in order to complete the process successfully you will have to follow the directions carefully. The first step, obviously, is to determine if you meet the qualifications for the office. When you have met all of the requirements for holding the office, you can begin the application process. The Montana Secretary of State's office has implemented an online filing system, and all applications must be submitted electronically. No paper applications will be accepted. Please visit our website for the current process instructions. When your application has been approved, usually within hours, your Certificate of Commission will be available immediately for you to download directly from your "Work Queue" on the online system. You will need to print out your Certificate as proof that your commission has been issued, so that you may purchase your official notary stamp and journal and be ready to assume your notarial duties. Below are the qualifications that must be met before you can apply for a new or renewed commission.

QUALIFICATIONS

To become a notary public or to renew a commission, an applicant must:

- Be a citizen or permanent legal resident of the United States
- Be at least 18 years of age
- Be a resident of, or have a place of employment or practice in, Montana, or be the spouse or legal dependent of an active duty military personnel stationed in Montana
- Be able to read and write English
- Be eligible to receive a commission pursuant to Montana Code Annotated §1-5-621
- Complete the required training. This applies to both new applicants and renewing notaries
- Pass the Secretary of State's on-line examination

TERM OF OFFICE

The term of office for a notary public is four years. A notary may be appointed or reappointed by submitting the required documentation to the Secretary of State's office as required by law. Term limits don't apply to notaries – you may renew your commission as many times as you wish. Upon successful completion of the application process, the Secretary of State's office will issue a Certificate of Commission, showing the notary's official name, city of residence, commission number, and the beginning and expiration dates of the commission. The Certificate of Commission is the official proof that the person is a notary public for the state of Montana. If the notary moves out of state, and/or ceases to maintain a place of business or practice in Montana his/her commission is automatically terminated. A change of employment during a notary's term of office does not terminate the commission, but must be reported to the Secretary of State's office. Even if your employer pays for your bond, stamp, and journal, the commission is issued to the notary personally, and the employer has no right to cancel the bond or unilaterally terminate the commission. A notarization performed after a commission has expired or terminated is automatically invalidated and may result in civil or criminal penalties.

OBTAINING A COMMISSION

It is the objective of the Notary and Certifications Division of the Secretary of State's office to make the process of applying for a new or renewal commission as easy as possible; however, there are specific statutory requirements that must be met. On this page and the following page, you will find general information, about the process to become a notary or renew your commission (the process is now the same for both), how to change your name on your commission, and when and how to notify the office of other changes that the law requires.

All applications, changes, and notifications must be done via the online notary filing system. We will not accept paper submissions.

The information in this chapter is current as of the date of this edition of the handbook; however you should check the website <https://sosmt.gov/Notary> for the most accurate and up-to-date information and requirements.

The basic process for obtaining a commission involves these six steps:

1. Take one or more approved training courses and save the completion certificates
2. Successfully pass the required examination and save the certificate
3. Obtain a notary surety bond from a licensed bonding agent (usually an insurance agent)
4. Sign the bond as the “Principal” and have the Statement and Oath of Office notarized (you will have to sign it in front of the notary and take your oath of office) NOTE: There are two places on the bond where your signature is required.
5. Complete the online application process. You will have to upload copies of the training certificates, the exam certificate and the signed and notarized bond so have the files handy.
6. Payment of the $25 application fee can be made online with a credit or debit card or eCheck. State employees may use an Internunit Journal (IUJ).

WARNING: “The devil is in the details!” Carefully read and follow the full instructions to assure that the process will go smoothly. There are statutory time constraints and other mandates that apply depending on the circumstances. Failure to follow the directions correctly will result in delays, frustration, and additional expense.

Some important things to note about the notary application process:

- You do not have to use your full legal name for the commission – we can accept an application that uses at least one initial and your surname, or your nickname and surname, as long as you can prove your identity to the notary who notarizes your statement and oath of office. The important thing is that you be consistent: The name on the application, bond, and statement and oath must be exactly the same. The signatures should be your usual and customary signature and should be reasonably the same as the printed version of your name – otherwise your notarizations may be challenged frequently. This becomes your “official notary name and signature” for both traditional as well as online notarizations and must be used on every notarial act you perform.
- All requests for commissions (new and renewal) must be filed within 30 days of the effective date of the bond if one is shown on the bond. If an effective date is not shown on the bond it will be determined by the Secretary of State’s office. Your specific term of office is shown on your Certificate of Commission.
- The training requirement for new notary applicants is 4 hours of approved courses taken within 12 months of submitting an application. Renewing notaries can take 2 hours of training in each of the last three years of their term or 4 hours in the 12 months before renewal (this option is not available for notaries whose commissions expire before 1/1/2022).
- The exam cannot be taken more than 180 days (six months) before the application documents are submitted to the secretary of state’s office.
- Requests for reappointment cannot be made more than 30 days before or 30 days after the expiration date of the current commission.
- State employees whose filing fee is paid for by their department must arrange for an interunit journal (IUJ) to be issued before submitting the documents to the Secretary of State’s office.
- The notary is solely responsible for submitting the required documents and payment for requesting a commission or for updating contact information during the term of office.
- The filing fee is non-refundable.

If you have any questions about any of these processes, feel free to contact the Notary and Certifications Division of the Secretary of State’s office.

UPDATING YOUR INFORMATION

Notaries are required by law to provide certain information as part of the application process, including their name, physical residence address, mailing address, email addresses, personal telephone number, employment information, and whether Electronic or Remote Notarization services are offered. This information must be updated as necessary during the term of office. You must notify the Secretary of State's office within 30 days of any changes. An amended Certificate of Commission will be issued when your name or city of residence changes and you will have to obtain a new stamp showing the updated information. Name changes will also require a rider from the bonding company showing that they have changed the name on the bond. All changes must be made through the online filing system.

NOTARY SEAL/STAMP

Traditional Ink Seal/Stamps. It is the responsibility of the notary to obtain and keep an stamp upon receiving a new or subsequent commission. A new stamp must be purchased for each term of office or whenever the information shown in the stamp (such as the city of residence or the notary's name) changes. The State does not provide the seal/official stamp. They may be purchased from most stationery, stamp, or office supply stores. It is the notary's responsibility to assure that the stamp is correct and complies with the requirements described below. Do not expect that the retailer or manufacturer knows the requirements. Provide this page to the vendor if there are any questions.

All Montana notaries are required to have an ink stamp that creates a rectangular impression approximately 1" by 2 ½" in size, that contains, within a plain, narrow border, a seal (as shown below) and the additional statutorily mandated information: the notary's printed name; the title, "Notary Public for the State of Montana"; the words, "Residing at" with the name of the city or town and state where the notary lives; and the notary's commission expiration date, shown as Month/Day/Four Digit Year. The stamp may be either blue or black ink only.

The following is an illustration of the combination seal/stamp unit that is mandated for Montana notaries:

- All information as shown above must be included. The commission expiration date must be complete. It is not acceptable to "fill in" the year.
- If any of the information contained in the seal/stamp changes during the notary's term of office, the stamp must be replaced. Handwritten corrections to the impression are not allowed.
- The outside rectangular border is a REQUIRED part of the stamp.
- The position of the notary's name and the words "notarial seal" may be interchanged within the circular seal
- Notaries will have to purchase a new stamp for each term of office.
- When you use this seal/stamp, you do not have to re-enter the information contained in the stamp by hand on a notarial certificate.
- An electronic Montana notary seal/stamp must be visually the same as a tangible stamp impression in design, color, and approximate size.

See the list of Recommended Vendors page on our website for contact information about stamp suppliers who have agreed to produce only compliant stamps for Montana notaries.

Electronic Seal/Stamp. The design and content of an electronic seal/stamp must be the same as the ink stamp.

Do not order your stamp until you have downloaded your Notice of Appointment and Certificate of Commission.

NOTARY JOURNAL

All Montana notaries are required by law to maintain one or more journals in which all tangible and electronic notarial acts are recorded. The journals may be either a permanent, bound paper journal designed to deter fraud or a permanent, tamper-evident electronic journal. Each journal entry must include the date and time of the notarization; the type of notarial act, a description of the document (usually the document date and type); the type of identification used; the signature, printed name, and address of the person for whom the notarial act was performed (signatures are not required for certified copies or remotely notarized documents); and the fee (if any) charged for the notarization.

Paper journals may be obtained from a local office supply store or other retailer, or they are available online from many sources. There are different formats available; you may choose whichever you prefer as long as the records are chronologically numbered and the book is designed in such a way as to deter any deletion, alteration, or modification of the pages.

Electronic journals must be commercially produced and create chronological, sequential, and non-modifiable records that can be accessed upon demand and turned over in digital format to the Secretary of State's office in accordance with §1-5-618, MCA if necessary.

Some notaries may wish to keep one journal at work and another for personal use. Others may want to use both an electronic and a paper journal. A notary will be expected to produce any and all journal records as appropriate upon request of an authorized party.

It is the notary's personal responsibility to maintain possession of all journals created during the entire time the notary holds an active commission. A notary does not have to change journals when the commission is renewed; one journal may, in fact, contain the records for several years if the notary does only a few notarizations.

Upon termination or resignation of the notary's commission, the notary must keep the journals for 10 years after the last entry or choose to leave them with an approved repository. The Secretary of State has a form that must be signed by the notary and the proposed custodian and approved by the Secretary of State before the journals may be transferred to another repository.

More information on creating journal entries can be found on pages 10 - 12.

Your journal is the most important evidence you have to prove that you performed every notarialization lawfully. Montana's laws regarding journals have changed several times over the last few years. Take time to read and fully understand your duties and obligations as enacted in §1-5-618, MCA.

CHAPTER 3 - NOTARIZING DOCUMENTS

THE NOTARIAL PROCESS

When we talk about “notarizing a document” most of the time we really mean notarizing, or authenticating, a signature in some way. So let’s break down the steps that you’ll take whenever you are asked to perform a notarization involving a signature:

- ✓ Require personal appearance
- ✓ Review the document
- ✓ Identify the signer(s)
- ✓ Determine competency and willingness
- ✓ Create the journal record
- ✓ Complete the notarial certificate

The processes for administering an oath as a separate notarial act, certifying a copy of a document, a fact, a photograph or certification of life are slightly different and we discuss them in the next chapter. These are the steps you always complete when taking an acknowledgement, witnessing a signature, or performing a jurat.

1. REQUIRE PERSONAL APPEARANCE

We’ve said it before and we’ll say it again: “RULE # 1 – When taking an acknowledgement, witnessing a signature or performing a verification on oath or affirmation (jurat), the signer must personally appear to the notary at the time the notarization takes place.” Montana law defines personal appearance as either physical presence or appearance of the signer by means of communication technology (remote or remote online notarization). In order to lawfully complete a notarial certificate, you are attesting that these notarial acts occurred “before you” and that you witnessed some particular action.

2. REVIEW THE DOCUMENT

Notaries are not verifying or validating the contents of the document being notarized and there is no reason for the notary to read the document word-for-word. However, before the notary can move on to the other steps, he/she should glance through the document in order to determine three important things:

- To verify what kind of document it is. You’ll need that for your journal entry and also so you can determine if the signer understands what they are signing.
- To determine the type of notarial act that should be performed .
- To ascertain who is supposed to sign the document. Not only will this step tell you the name of the signer and how the person is to be identified and sign, but this is how you will learn if the document will be signed by the person acting in an individual or in a representative capacity.

3. IDENTIFY THE SIGNER

In the state of Montana there are only two ways that you may identify a person who requests a notarization:

- Personal Knowledge – A person whom you have known for a considerable period of time and would recognize anywhere, anytime can be identified on the basis of “personal knowledge.” This is a subjective standard, but a notary should be guided by the understanding that, in the event of a legal challenge to the signer’s identity, the notary would have to positively identify the person in court, often many years after the notarization took place. Personal knowledge is generally considered the best form of identification, and thus requires no further proof of identity. In Montana, it is generally acceptable for a notary public to notarize the signature of a spouse or other relative as long as the notary is not personally named in the document being signed or would be a direct beneficiary of the transaction contemplated by the document. The Secretary of State’s office cautions that notaries should seriously consider the potential conflicts that may arise over documents which transfer property or rights (titles, deeds, wills, powers of attorney, etc.) among family members. “Just because you can, doesn’t mean you should” are good words to apply in these situations.

- Satisfactory Evidence – There are two types of “satisfactory evidence” – Documentary Proof and Credible Witnesses.
  - Documentary Proof - The most frequently utilized type of satisfactory evidence to positively identify a person who is otherwise unknown, or only slightly known, to you is by means of examining a statutorily acceptable identification credential which is current or expired less than three years prior to the notarization. The notary should always request signed and/or pictured, government-issued ID before performing a traditional notarization for someone they do not know well.

Acceptable identification credentials include a passport, driver’s license or state ID, tribal ID, military or student ID, or other government issued ID. Many times it will be necessary to use more than one piece of identification to conclusively identify a person. Notaries are cautioned that some forms of ID, such as bank cards, credit cards, and non-pictured government-issued cards (social security or Medicare cards) are not acceptable as primary identifiers, although they may in certain circumstances be used in conjunction with another ID to establish a person’s identity. Notaries are not expected to be authorities on all types of identification, but they are urged to use common sense and reasonable care when presented with identification that appears to have been altered or tampered with in some way, or when the picture or description of the person on the card does not match the person appearing before the notary. If there is any doubt as to the person’s identity, the only safe practice is to refuse to perform the notarization.

Notaries performing remote or remote online notarial acts are required by law to utilize “multi-factor identification” in identifying the signer if they do not personally know him or her. The Secretary of State’s office has determined that the notary must use two or more of the following technologies to identify the signer(s): Dynamic knowledge-based assessment; public key certificate; identity proofing; credential analysis; or block chain identification. Other technology-based identification methodologies may be approved in the future.

- Credible Witness – The other means of identifying a person for notarial purposes is the most misunderstood, the most complicated, and the least likely to be available at the time the situation arises without having made prior arrangements. The credible witness must be:
  - Personally known to the signer
  - Either personally known to the notary, or identified on the basis of documentary proof as defined above.
  - Appearing personally (either physically or by means of communication technology) to the notary at the time of the notarization.
  - An unbiased third party who has no interest in, or benefit from, the transaction.

Steps to a proper notarization using a credible witness:

1. Properly identify the credible witness.
2. Place the credible witness under oath: “Do you swear under penalty of perjury that this is _____?”
3. Create a journal record for the oath of the credible witness and have him/her sign the journal as appropriate. The credible witness does not sign the document.
4. The signer signs the document (if not already signed).
5. Create journal record for the signature, acknowledgment, or jurat and have the signer sign the journal as appropriate. (The credible witness’ name is the means of identification.)
6. Complete the notarial certificate on the document.

4. DETERMINE THE SIGNER'S COMPETENCY AND WILLINGNESS

A notary's duty is not limited to determining the identity of the signer. Determining that the signer is competent and willing to sign the document is also required. The standard that a notary is held to for these determinations is one of "reasonable care." If the signer appears to be lucid and understands what is happening while the notarization is being performed, the standard of reasonable care for competency has likely been met.

Generally speaking, willingness can be inferred simply from the fact that the signer has requested that the notarization be performed. There are, however, situations where additional care must be taken by the notary; for example, when the signer appears to be under pressure or duress or under the influence of alcohol or other substances.

In situations where there is a question of pressure being put on the signer, the notary should ask any others in the room to leave and then engage the signer in conversation about the transaction.

There is a difference between a person being unwilling or pressured to sign a document and being unhappy about the circumstances that have made it necessary for him or her to sign that document. When in doubt, the notary can get an opinion from an attorney or medical professional familiar with the signer.

If there is a question about the signer's competency or willingness, the notary must refuse to perform the notarization or suggest that it should be done at a later time as circumstances warrant.

Failure to establish the identity, comprehension, and intent of the person requesting a notarization to the degree of reasonable care places the notary at risk of being sued for negligence or malfeasance in office.

5. CREATE THE JOURNAL RECORD

Your notary journal is the official record of the notarial transaction. Combined with the notarial certificate on the document itself, the journal entry is evidence that you fulfilled your obligations as a notary public for that transaction. The information required to be entered into the journal is the same for both paper and electronic journals – only the method of recording is different. The following must be included in every journal entry:

- Date and Time Notarized: This is the date and the time when you actually performed the notarization; it may or may not be the same as the date shown on the document, which may be earlier but not later than the date of notarization.
- Type of Notarization: There are twelve types of notarial acts enumerated in Title 1, Chapter 5, Part 6 of the Montana Code Annotated. It is incumbent upon the notary to know and understand the requirements for the performance of all of them and how to identify which act a particular document demands. The journal must accurately record the type of notarial act performed.
- Description of the Document: Typically, this is the date of the document (if indicated) and the type of document such as "contract," "deed," "power of attorney," "affidavit," etc. If more than one document is being notarized, each document should be described. The date may be the date the document was issued or the date it was signed, and is usually printed on the document before it is signed. If no date appears on the document, you may consider the date of notarization as the date of the document. If you are unable to identify the type of document, the signer should be able to tell you what is being signed – otherwise you must refuse the notarization.
- Type of ID: Again, your possible entries are limited. If you know the signer well, enter PERSONAL KNOWLEDGE. If you are relying on DOCUMENTARY PROOF, you should enter the issuing entity, the type of document (ex: "Montana DL"), and the date the ID was issued or expires. DO NOT ENTER THE NUMBER OF ANY ID DOCUMENT. If you rely on a CREDIBLE WITNESS, your journal should reflect that you performed two separate notarial acts, including the oath of the credible witness and the acknowledgment, signature, or jurat of the signer.

- The Printed Name, Signature, and Address of the Signer: This is absolutely the most important entry in the journal. This proves that the signer personally appeared to you at the time the notarization was performed. Whenever possible, the printed name and address should be entered by the signer; the signature, of course, must always be entered by the signer. The signer should be advised to enter his or her name the same way it appears on the document being notarized. It does not matter whether the signer uses a business or home address. For remote or remote online notarizations, the journal should reflect the platform that was used and where the a/v recording is stored in lieu of the signature of the principal(s).
- The Fee. You do not have to charge for notarial services, but if you do, you must enter the amount you charged in the journal record. Montana notaries may charge a maximum of $10 for performing most notarial acts and may charge additional fees for travel or use of communications technology if the signer is informed and agrees to the charges beforehand.
- Other Information: Use this space to include any information that may be pertinent to the situation. It is especially helpful to note anything unusual or additional that occurred or was a part of the transaction. Many journal entries will not require any additional information. Electronic journals often capture GPS data and allow you to take a picture of the signer, to provide additional proof of where the notarization took place and who signed the document.

Because notary journals could be subject to public review, notaries are specifically prohibited from entering any private information, such as birthdates, social security numbers, credit card numbers, or ID card numbers that could be used to steal someone's identity.

Below are pictures of a "Line-style" paper journal. The pages face each other and the information is written across the gutter. Since the information is contained on two separate pages, and entries are made on both sides of a page, this type of journal is very tamper-resistant. It is often chosen by notaries who routinely notarize a high volume of documents. The use of ditto marks is acceptable for everything but the signature. If multiple documents for the same signer are recorded at the same time and more than one line is used, a diagonal line may be drawn across the signature spaces and the signer may place his signature there rather than signing each separate line. If the notarizations were done at different times (even on the same day), however, a separate signature must be made each time as shown on this example.

Next is an example of a “Block-style” journal entry. These journals have a single block for every notarial act, although in some situations, more than one document signed by the same person at the same time may be grouped in one entry in the journal. You should include additional information explaining how the documents were related and any other information indicating where the group may be found. In the illustration below, there were a group of related documents (for a loan closing) signed by the same person. The notarization was performed using Remote Online Notarization (R.O.N.).

Many journals will have spaces for fingerprints or thumbprints. Montana law does not require thumbprints, but there is no prohibition against notaries including a finger or thumbprint as further proof of the signer’s presence and identity.

As noted in Chapter 2, Montana law also allows notaries to use electronic journals that create chronological, sequential, non-modifiable records that can be stored securely and accessed if needed. Because this is a relatively new technology, there are many developers and vendors introducing new products. Before investing in a particular product, it is the notary’s responsibility to determine that the electronic journal meets the minimum criteria established. There are, and will likely continue to be, many “apps” that claim to be electronic journals but do not offer the security and tamper-evident qualities that are mandated for electronic journals.

6. COMPLETE THE NOTARIAL CERTIFICATE

The final step in the notarization process is the one most people think is the whole thing – completing the notarial certificate/block. By law [1-5-609, MCA], the certificate must be executed contemporaneously with (at the same time as) the performance of the notarial act and include:

1. The venue - This is the state and county where the notarization is performed. This is not always the state and county in which the notary resides or works and it is not the information contained in the notary’s stamp. See “Jurisdiction” on page 3 for more information.
2. The statement of particulars - This is a declaration describing the type of notarial act performed, the date on which it was performed and the person for whom it was performed or other information required by law. The notary may need to refer to §1-5-610, MCA, pages 40 – 43, or Chapter 4 of this handbook, for help with the wording and format.
3. The notary’s official signature - The notary’s wet signature or official electronic signature must be affixed to every notarial certificate. The notary’s official name on the notarial seal and the notary’s official signature must correspond with the notary’s commissioned name and signature on file with the Office of the Secretary of State.
4. The notary’s official seal/stamp - The requirements for the seal/stamp are explained on page 6.

A diagram of a typical notarial certificate/block, showing the four required components – the VENUE, the STATEMENT OF PARTICULARS, the NOTARY'S SIGNATURE and the NOTARY'S SEAL/STAMP - is below.

The diagram illustrates the four required components of a notarial certificate block:

- Venue: State of _____ County of _____
- S. o. P. (Statement of Particulars): This instrument was signed or acknowledged before me on _____ by _____
Print name of signer(s)
- Notary's Signature: _____
- Notary's Seal/Stamp: { Seal/Stamp }

Over the course of your career as a notary public, you may encounter many different notarial certificates. Some may be very short and concise, like the example here, and some may be long, wordy, and almost incomprehensible. All must contain these four basic elements. Recognizing the components of the certificates will help you in identifying what type of notarial act is called for, as well as assuring that all the required elements are included.

It is a violation of 1-5-625, MCA for a notary to simply “sign and stamp” a document. A full notarial certificate must be evident any time a notary affixes his/her signature and stamp on a document.

Many times notaries are presented with documents that either do not have a notarial certificate, or the pre-printed notarial certificate was somehow flawed or previously completed for another signer. When those situations occur, the notary must substitute a proper notarial certificate by writing, typing, stamping or attaching one to the document as close to the signer's signature as possible.

The image shows a grid of 10 sample notarial certificates for the State of Montana, arranged in two columns and five rows. Each certificate includes the following fields:

- State of Montana
- County of _____
- This instrument was signed or acknowledged before me on _____ by _____ (Name of signer)
- (Notary Signature) (Affix seal/stamp to the left or below)

We have created a series of notarial certificates that may be downloaded from our website and printed on 2" x 4" shipping labels and then affixed directly to the document. We have also created half-page and full page loose certificates that may be downloaded from our website and filled-in with the correct information, then signed and stamped by the notary and attached to the document.

Because loose certificates are just stapled to the document, they can easily be detached, lost, or deliberately removed, and should not be used unless a certificate cannot be permanently affixed on the document. The notary should always note on the document “See notarial certificate attached” and note in the journal that a loose certificate was used.

If an error is made while completing the notarial certificate, any incorrect or omitted information may be corrected by the notary before relinquishing the document. Such changes should be initialed and dated and corresponding information should be noted in the notary's journal.

Montana law allows the notary, or a person with written permission from the notary, to subsequently correct or include omitted information on a certificate as long as the journal entry corroborates the change. All documentation pertaining to a third-party correction, including a copy of the revised certificate, must be kept in the notary's journal with the original entry. The journal record must create a full paper trail of the changes made to any certificate after the date of the notarization.

Handwritten changes or corrections may not be made to the impression of the notarial seal/stamp. If the stamp impression is not correct or clear a new impression must be made.

In the next chapter we will explain the types of notarial acts and how you complete typical certificates for each type of notarization.

CHAPTER 4 - TYPES OF NOTARIAL ACTS

There are twelve specific authorized notarial acts enumerated in Montana notary law [Title 1, Chapter 5, Part 6, Montana Code Annotated]:

- Taking acknowledgments in an individual capacity.
- Witnessing signatures in an individual capacity.
- Taking acknowledgments in a representative capacity
- Witnessing signatures in representative capacity.
- Verification upon oath or affirmation (Jurat).
- Administering oaths.
- Certifying copies of certain private tangible or electronic records.
- Certifying a fact or event.
- Certification of life.
- Certification of a photograph.
- Certifying transcripts of depositions or affidavits.
- Making protests of negotiable instruments.

Every Montana notary public is empowered to perform all but the last two notarial acts listed above. The notarial acts of certifying or attesting a transcript of an affidavit or deposition and making a protest of a negotiable instrument may be performed only by notaries who are knowledgeable of the applicable associated legal requirements and have received appropriate training.

There are also other notarial acts that appear in other sections of the Montana Code Annotated, but they are very rarely used, and notaries should be extremely cautious of performing a notarial act with which the notary is unfamiliar.

On the following pages, we will explain the particulars of each act and provide you with examples of notarial certificates that you will likely encounter and how they should be completed. Understand that you will most likely see variations in the pre-printed notarial certificates, but you should be able to figure out what type of notarial act is being indicated and how to fill in any blanks. Some pre-printed notarial certificates, instead of providing blank spaces for you to enter information, will provide multiple choices for certain details; in these cases you should either circle the appropriate information or cross through the other options. If you are unable to determine the type of notarial act or if you do not understand what information is to be entered in a particular space, then you should request assistance before attempting to complete the notarization.

As ministerial officials, notaries do not have the authority to decide on the appropriate type of notarization to perform. If the document does not have a pre-printed notarial certificate on it and the signer cannot indicate to you what is needed, then you may not proceed with the notarization.

Notaries must refuse to perform a requested notarization if the person requesting it cannot be satisfactorily identified or if the notary determines that (1) the person does not appear to be competent or have the capacity to execute the record, or (2) the person is not signing the document knowingly or voluntarily. Notably, the law allows notaries to refuse to perform any notarization unless there is another law specifically prohibiting the notary from refusing.

Information about how to perform each of the notarial acts is provided below with examples of corresponding certificates, showing how they should be completed.

TAKING ACKNOWLEDGMENTS

The notarial act of taking an acknowledgement requires the signer to personally appear before the notary and declare (acknowledge) that the signature is his/hers, but it does not require the notary to witness the act of signing. Often the party has previously signed the record before bringing it to the notary. In those cases, the requirements are met when the signer verbally declares (acknowledges) to the notary that he/she signed the document, and the notary has: (1) determined the signer was competent to sign the document and did so voluntarily; (2) properly identified the signer; and (3) verified the signature to be that of the signer (usually by comparing the signature on the document to the signature on the ID and the one made by the signer in the notary's journal.)

In taking an acknowledgment, the notary must do the following:

- Require the personal appearance of the signer.
- Review the document to identify that an acknowledgment is the type of notarial act required, or receive the signer's instruction to that effect.
- Identify the signer as the person who is supposed to sign the document.
- Verify that the signature on the document is the signer's, either by watching them sign the document, or if it has already been signed, by comparing the signature on the document to one on the signer's ID and the signature made by the signer in the notary's journal.
- Have the signer verbally acknowledge that the signature is his or hers and that it was made knowingly and voluntarily.
- Complete the journal entry and the notarial certificate.

Examples of a typical notary certificate for an ACKNOWLEDGMENT

1. This is a simple, basic form from 1-5-610(1), MCA:

State of Montana
County of Yellowstone
This record was acknowledged before me on August 25, 2019 by John Smith (only) .
Print name of signer(s)

Affix seal/stamp as close to signature as possible.

Notes:

- The key word to look for to identify an acknowledgment is "acknowledged" in the written statement of particulars.
- There are many variations on the wording of acknowledgments; this is one of the most common versions and is the statutory form suggested in 1-5-610(1), MCA.

- It is a good habit to enter the word “only” in parentheses after entering the name(s) of the signer(s), so that additional names cannot be entered later in an attempt to indicate that other signatures were notarized.

WITNESSING SIGNATURES

Witnessing a signature is exactly that: You watch the signer sign the document. Occasionally someone will bring a document to you that has already been signed, although the preprinted form calls for you to witness the person sign the document. In situations like that, you must have the person sign the document again in your presence. It is not necessary for the signer to cross out the first signature; he or she should just sign again as close to the original signature as possible. When witnessing a signature, the notary will do the following:

- Require the personal appearance of the signer.
- Review the document to identify the type of document and type of notarial act required.
- Identify the signer as the person who is supposed to sign the document.
- Determine that the signer is signing the document knowingly and voluntarily.
- Have the signer sign the document as you watch.
- Complete the journal entry and the notarial certificate.

Example of a typical notary certificate for WITNESSING a SIGNATURE

1. This is a more wordy version of the basic form as described in 1-5-610(4), MCA

In the County of Yellowstone, State of Montana, on this 25th day of August, 2019, before me, the undersigned Notary Public personally appeared John Smith (only), who was ~~personally known to me~~, proved to me through documentary evidence, ~~or identified by a credible witness~~ to be the person named in the foregoing, and executed the same.

Affix seal/stamp as close to signature as possible.

Jane J. Doe
(Notary Signature)

Printed Name

Commission Number

My Commission expires: _____, 20____

Notes:

- The format of the notarial certificate may vary from the short form certificate in statute, as seen in the above example; however, as long as all information required by law is included, the style of the notarial certificate is not important.

- The key words to look for to determine if you are to witness the signature are “signed,” “subscribed,” or “executed.”
- It is a good habit to enter the word “only” in parentheses after entering the name(s) of the signer(s), so that additional names cannot be entered later in an attempt to indicate that other signatures were notarized.
- Be sure to line through the “multiple choice” options provided in the pre-printed certificate that do not apply to that particular transaction.
- Because the combination seal/stamp includes all the statutorily required information, you do not have to re-enter the information below your signature. You should line through that part of the certificate to indicate that you did not “just forget” to complete it.
- If a pre-printed certificate requests information that is contained in the stamp or that is not required by Montana law, such as a commission number, a simple line through that part of the form will indicate that the information has not been forgotten or ignored.

REPRESENTATIVE CAPACITY SIGNERS

An acknowledgment or a signature witnessing can also be made by an individual acting (signing) on behalf of another person or entity. These are called acknowledgments or signatures in a representative capacity and the person who is appearing before the notary will be signing on behalf of a business or corporation, a trust, with a Power of Attorney or with some other authorization that allows them to sign for another person or legal entity.

When notarizing a document that is being signed by someone other than the person or entity designated as the principal, the notary should determine (1) the identity of the person who is actually signing the document, (2) the capacity of the person to sign on behalf of the person or entity, and (3) the authority to sign for that person or entity in this particular transaction.

Montana Code Annotated §1-5-610(2) and (5) specify that such notarial certificates must be completed with the name of the person who signed the document, the capacity in which it was signed, and the name of the party or entity on whose behalf it was signed.

Here is an example of how to complete such a notarial certificate. Note that you will most likely have to add the information about the capacity of the signer and the person or entity who was expected to sign the document – many documents do not anticipate that they will be signed by an individual other than the named principal.

(This is how you would complete the information if the signer is using a power of attorney as the basis for signing the document.)

State of Montana

County of Yellowstone

This record was signed before me on September 5, 2019 by John Smith (only), as Attorney-in-fact for Mary Smith.

Affix seal/stamp as close to signature as possible.

(Notary Signature)

NOTES:

- When notarizing a document that is being signed by someone other than the person or entity designated as the signer, the notary should determine:
  1. The identity of the person who is actually signing the document
  2. The capacity of the person to sign on behalf of the person or entity
- The above information may be determined using the same methods that are used to determine identity:
  - Personal knowledge
  - Satisfactory evidence
- Montana law defines the criteria for determining the capacity of a representative capacity signer as “the record, personal knowledge, or presentment of an official record” [§1-5-603(4)(a)(ii), MCA] Sufficient evidence would include the document itself (if it refers to the designated signer), or some official documentation, such as an authorizing document (a Power of Attorney, probate records, Trust document, etc.) or information on an official government website, such as the secretary of state’s Business Services website showing registered businesses and key officials.
- As noted above, most documents’ notarial certificates do not anticipate that the document will be signed by someone other than the person or entity whose name appears on the document, so the notary will have to adjust the preprinted notarial certificate accordingly. You may wish to substitute a correct notarial block by lining through the pre-printed block and attaching a correct form with the signer’s permission.
- If the signer is using a power of attorney, the notary should remember to ask if the principal is alive. A power of attorney automatically terminates upon the death of the principal and can never be used for a deceased person.
- In preprinted notarial certificates with several blank spaces in them, try inserting the name of the signer and/or pronouns referring to the signer.

VERIFICATION UPON OATH OR AFFIRMATION/SIGNED AND SWORN (“JURAT”)

A more complex process is taking a verification upon oath or affirmation, commonly known as performing a jurat. For some legal uses, the document would be inadmissible or useless if the jurat is not properly completed. Performing a jurat requires a notary to do two things: (1) Witness the person signing the document – just like the signature witnessing above, and (2) Administer an oath, placing the person under penalty of perjury if the statements made in the document are proven false. A notary is not responsible for the truthfulness or accuracy of the document, and the person who takes the oath may, in fact, not be telling the truth. As long as you have administered an oath, you have done your job.

Suggested oath (or affirmation) to be administered when performing a jurat notarization: “Do you swear (or affirm) that the information contained in this document is true and complete to the best of your knowledge?”

When called upon to perform a jurat notarization, the notary will do the following:

- Require the personal appearance of the signer
- Review the document to determine the type of document and type of notarial act required
- Identify the signer as the person who is supposed (or authorized) to sign the document
- Determine that the signer is signing the document competently and voluntarily
- Have the signer sign the document as you watch
- Administer the above (or similar) oath
- Complete the journal entry and the notarial certificate

Examples of a typical notary certificate for a JURAT

1. The first one is from 1-5-610(3), MCA:

State of Montana
County of Yellowstone
This record was signed and sworn to before me on August 25, 2019 by John Smith (only).
Print name of signer(s)

(Notary Signature)

Affix seal/stamp as close to signature as possible.

Notes:

- When determining whether to perform a jurat, remember you are looking for instructions to do two things: Witness a signature and administer an oath. Key words are “signed and sworn,” “subscribed and attested,” or “affirmed and executed” (any combination of those six verbs indicating that an oath was administered and the document was signed in the notary’s presence).
- It is a good habit to enter the word “only” in parentheses after entering the name(s) of the signer(s), so that additional names cannot be entered later in an attempt to indicate that other signatures were notarized.

ADMINISTERING VERBAL OATHS

Although notaries are fully authorized to administer oaths as a separate notarial act, most of the time they are done in conjunction with a signature – a jurat. There is no standardized language mandated for various situations requiring an oath. In most cases the notary will receive instructions that will include or indicate the proper language for the specific oath that is to be administered.

CERTIFYING COPIES OF DOCUMENTS

A Montana Notary Public may be asked to certify or attest that a copy of a tangible or electronic document or other record is a full, true, and accurate transcription or reproduction of that which was copied. Because you are not verifying a signature, there is no need for you to require the presence of any particular individual, nor are you required to identify anyone in conjunction with the notarial act of certifying a copy. There are two ways to fulfill a request for a certified copy of a document:

CERTIFICATION OF COPY - When asked to certify a copy of a tangible record, the notary shall:

- Examine the document to determine that it is an unaltered original.
- Verify that the document may be lawfully copied and certified (see below for prohibitions on certifying certain documents).
- Personally photocopy the document.
- Complete the journal entry and a proper notarial certificate for the copy of the document.

CERTIFICATION OF AN ELECTRONIC or DIGITAL RECORD – When asked to certify a copy of an electronic record, the notary must:

- Personally download and print the copy directly from the digital file.
- Complete the journal entry and a proper notarial certificate for the copy of the document.

Note that the requester does not sign the copy at all – only the notary’s signature appears on the copy of the document or the attached certificate. Also note that the requester’s signature, printed name, and address is not required in the journal entry, but it is certainly acceptable to include it.

There may be instances where the notary is not certain that the document that is being presented is one the law allows to be copy-certified. In those VERY RARE instances, the notary may offer the requestor the option of certifying the document and then the notary will perform a verification under oath (jurat) where the requester swears under penalty of perjury that the copy of the document is a true and exact copy. This process is called “Certification of Document Custodian”. This process should never be used when the notary knows that the document should not be copy certified by a notary public.

CERTIFICATION BY DOCUMENT CUSTODIAN – A customer may bring you a copy of a document and request that it be certified. In this situation, the notary should:

- Require the customer to certify that the copy is a true and accurate copy of the original and sign the statement of certification
- Place the customer under oath and perform a jurat notarization of the customer’s signature
- Complete the journal entry and the notarial certificate

“Certification by a document custodian” should not be used to certify copies of those public records that cannot be certified by a notary public. The notary’s journal entry for this type of notarization would reflect that a jurat notarization was performed on a certification by document custodian as the type of notarial act. See the second example below.

Montana notaries are prohibited from making and certifying copies of public documents which are considered official records that are issued by state or other government officials, unless the notary is employed by the entity issuing or holding the original record. If you are unsure whether you may properly certify a copy of a particular record or document, contact the Secretary of State’s office.

Some documents will contain a warning that they are not to be copied. Such documents cannot be copy certified. Note: If you make a copy of a document and language appears indicating that the copy is void, you may not certify that copy. Below are charts showing some of the types of documents that notaries are often asked to copy certify. This is not a comprehensive list, but includes most of the frequently requested documents.

Typical “Public” Documents

DO NOT COPY & CERTIFY

Birth or Death Certificates
Marriage Licenses
Divorce Decrees
Court Orders
Adoption Records
School Transcripts
FBI Fingerprint Cards
Motor Vehicle Titles
Any Recorded Document

Typical “Private” Documents

MAY COPY & CERTIFY

Driver’s Licenses
Student ID Cards
Employee ID Cards
Passports
Diplomas
Certificates or Awards
Personal Documents
Bills or Invoices
Bank Statements

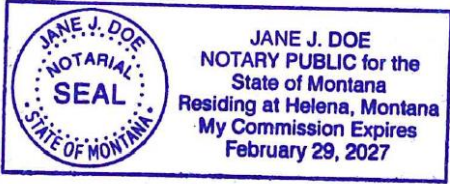

The simplest and easiest way to create a certified copy is to make a copy of the original document and then add a preprinted notarial certificate on the front or back of the copy or attach an appropriate loose certificate. Printable notarial certificate forms are available on our website. You can download these forms on mailing labels or regular paper. You may, of course, simply handwrite a complete notarial certificate directly on the copy – it's not rocket science!

Here is an example of a properly completed notarial certificate for copy certifications:

1. Direct certification of a tangible record:

Signed John Smith

When that is completed attach the jurat form:

NOTE: Certified copies of various records are frequently required for individuals working, studying, or living abroad. Please see our website for more information about certified copies of documents that also require an Apostille.

3. Certification of a digital or electronic record:

REMOTE ONLINE NOTARIZATION (R.O.N.) or REMOTE NOTARIZATIONS

The certificates that are to be used for Remote Online Notarization or Remote Notarization are codified in §1-5-610(9 – 10), MCA and are dependent on whether the signer is located inside of the United States or in a foreign jurisdiction. The certificates for R.O.N. transactions will be part of the electronic document that you will be provided with and you will simply provide the specific details as prompted. We won't illustrate that type of certificate here since you will be given specific information in conjunction with the training offered by the R.O.N. Solution Provider when you sign up with them.

Remote Notarization of an acknowledgement on a tangible document (sometimes referred to as a R.I.N. – Remote Ink Notarization) is another situation entirely and the notary will have to complete a full certificate either on the document or a loose certificate that can be attached to the document. This is an example of a loose certificate for a Remote Notarization:

Any evidence that this certificate has been detached or removed from the above described record may render the notarization invalid or unacceptable.

CERTIFICATION OF FACT or PHOTOGRAPH:

Montana notaries may certify that certain facts are true, such as the date that something occurred like a birth, marriage, a death, or that a photograph contains an image of a person, place, or thing that the notary has been able to verify from personal knowledge or a source that the notary deems reliably accurate.

Certifications of Fact and Photographs will always require the notary to prepare a certificate. You may find a variety of downloadable certificates for all notarial acts on our website.

CERTIFICATION OF LIFE

Individuals who are temporarily living in the United States frequently need to send forms back to their home country attesting to the fact that they are still alive and are eligible for certain benefits from their home country. Montana notaries are able to certify that a person is alive, but it is critical that the notary does not exceed that authority by completing a form issued by the other country that may contain additional certifications.

When presented with a form that is intended to verify the living status of the individual, the notary must be able to read the form – which means that the form must be in English or have a translation attached.

When asked to certify that a person is alive, the notary must:

- Require the personal appearance of the person.
- Verify the person's identity carefully. You should request an immigrant visa or a green card as the preferred proof of identity.
- Carefully read the document to ascertain that you are not attesting to something other than the fact that the person is alive.
- You may use a downloadable loose certificate with Montana compliant language and attach it to the document.

OTHER NOTARIAL ACTS - CERTIFYING TRANSCRIPTS of AFFIDAVITS OR DEPOSITIONS AND MAKING PROTESTS OF NEGOTIABLE INSTRUMENTS

The notarial acts of certifying or attesting a transcript of an affidavit or deposition and making a protest of a negotiable instrument may be performed only by notaries who are knowledgeable of the applicable associated legal requirements and have received the appropriate training.

Certification of a transcript is a notarial act performed by a court reporter when the record made on the stenograph machine is converted into a regular Word-type document, proofed and edited and then certified by the court reporter/notary to be an exact copy of the spoken words. This is not to be confused with the notarization of the signature and oath (a jurat) of the subject who affirms the content of a deposition or affidavit.

A Protest of Instrument is a written declaration made by a notary at the direction of an individual that describes a bill or note and declares that the instrument was presented for payment and the request was refused for specific reasons. If a notary is asked to provide a protest of instrument, the notary is advised to contact the secretary of state's office immediately for further instruction on how to proceed.

§1-5-604(3), MCA empowers notarial officers to perform, "a notarial act authorized by this part or by a law of this state other than this part." If you are asked to provide a notarial act that does not seem to be one of the types of notarizations explained above, you should require the requester to provide you with the citation from the Montana Code Annotated describing the notarial act and the elements needed to complete it properly. You should contact the Notary & Certifications Division of the Secretary of State's office for assistance with any questions about "other notarial acts" before agreeing to the request.

CORRECTING A NOTARIAL CERTIFICATE

Montana law recognizes that mistakes sometimes happen and allows a notarial certificate to be corrected after the notarization has been completed if the change or correction can be evidenced by the information contained in the notary's journal.

No handwritten change or correction can be made to the impression of the notary's stamp. For example if the notary's name or city of residence has changed and the notary has not received the new stamp, the notary may not line through the name or city made by the stamp and handwrite the new name or city. Or if the notary's name or commission expiration date is not legible, the notary cannot trace over the missing letters. If the wrong stamp was used or if the notary forgot to affix the stamp, a new impression can be made on the document with the associated date and initials, showing that the correction was made subsequently to the document.

CORRECTION BY NOTARY

The notary may enter missing information or correct incorrect information on the original notarial certificate by making the change and initialing and dating the correction. A corresponding note must be entered in the notary's journal explaining what was changed and the date it was changed. Allowable corrections include changing, correcting or entering the venue, the date of the notarization, the name of the signer(s) or affixing a missing stamp.

CORRECTION BY A THIRD PARTY

A Montana notary may authorize a third party to change or correct missing or incorrect information contained in a completed notarial certificate only if the authorization is granted in writing and a copy of the authorizing message and a copy of the modified certificate is attached to the notary's journal record of the transaction.

NOTE: It is a violation of §1-5-632(1)(d), MCA, for anyone other than the notary who completed the notarial certificate or the person who received written authorization from the notary, to change, modify, or correct any information on a notarial certificate. A violation of this section is subject to a fine of $2500 or incarceration up to 1 year.

CHAPTER 5 – SPECIALIZED INFORMATION

NOTARIZING MONTANA MOTOR VEHICLES TITLES

Montana requires that the seller(s) signature(s) on a Montana Motor Vehicle Title be notarized. Once notarized, the title becomes a “negotiable instrument” and ownership is readily transferred to the person holding the title. For this reason, Montana notaries are urged to be particularly conscientious when asked to notarize a title.

- The preprinted notary certificates on most, if not all, of the older Montana titles do not accurately contain all the information required in a proper notarial certificate. You are responsible for ensuring the notarial certificate is complete. NOTE: The “venue” is missing on most (though not all) older title forms. You must include the location where the notarization was performed: “State of Montana, County of _____.”
- If there are two or more owners listed on a title, they do not have to have their signatures notarized at the same time or by the same notary, but all sellers’ signatures must be notarized. The sellers sign and print their names on the lines provided on the title; the first notary should use the “preprinted certificate” and be sure to specify whose signature was notarized (“Signed and sworn before me by John Smith (only)”). The subsequent notary completes a full notarial certificate either on the title (in the lien holder’s section, if there is enough room) or on a separate designated notarial certificate for Montana Motor Vehicle Title (see page 27).
- The Montana Motor Vehicle Division will not accept a title with information that has been in any way corrected or crossed out. If an error is made by the signers or the notary, a Statement of Fact will have to be completed and filed with the Title. A copy of this form is available online from the Motor Vehicles page of the Notary website.
- Notaries may place their seals in the lien holder section, just to the left of the signature in the notarial certificate on the older title forms. The new version has a space specifically designed for the new seal/stamp units that will be easier to use.
- Not every state requires that its titles be notarized. When asked to notarize an out-of-state title, be sure to check to see: (1) if it needs to be notarized; and (2) whose signatures, if any, must be notarized.
- See our website for information on remote or remote online notarizations of Montana motor vehicle titles. We are currently working with Motor Vehicle Services to determine the specific requirements for using communications technology to notarize titles and other MVD documents.
- Notaries may notarize “open titles,” per the message below.

AN IMPORTANT MESSAGE FROM THE MOTOR VEHICLE DIVISION:

“Open title” refers to a situation where a vehicle owner signs the transfer or assignment section of a title but doesn’t write in the name of the person to whom the vehicle is being sold (and usually odometer information is left blank as well). The open title can then be passed to a buyer (or through a series of buyers) without the statutorily mandated title and registration transactions being performed, the odometer disclosure statement being executed by the original seller or acknowledged by the original buyer, or any official record of the transfers being made. The risk of fraud and tax avoidance greatly increases when open titles are circulated. Additionally, open titles facilitate unlicensed “dealing” of motor vehicles, which then places legitimate dealers at a disadvantage.

A notary may disregard the open title admonition on the title (versions 2006 to 2010) and proceed with notarization of the vehicle owner’s (seller’s) signature – even though the purchaser’s name and address is not entered in section 1 of the title - if the notary has properly identified the signatory in accordance with the requirements of their commission. The notary is not required to interpret and/or enforce Montana title laws when acknowledging signatures on a Montana title document.

Likewise, a county treasurer, a deputy county treasurer, or a clerk who has been authorized by the treasurer to use the county seal under the authority of MCA § 61-3-220(2) (“an employee or authorized agent of the department”) may acknowledge the signature of a vehicle owner (seller), even though the owner has not entered the purchaser’s name and address in section 1 of the title.

It is the seller’s responsibility to execute a transfer (i.e., enter the purchaser’s name and address information) on the Montana title. Additionally, the seller has the duty to ensure that the odometer disclosure is complete and inherent in that process is naming a purchaser (transferee) who then by law must acknowledge the disclosure. MVD or county officials may inform a vehicle owner of state law requirements for transferring a vehicle to another person.

EXAMPLES of PROPERLY NOTARIZED MONTANA MOTOR VEHICLE TITLES

Old style titles (issued before September 2010):

New style titles (issued after September 2010):

If a second notarial certificate is needed for subsequent signers, the notary may either handwrite a complete notarial certificate on the title if there is room or complete and attach a loose certificate as found on the next page or on the Motor Vehicles page of the Notary website. Do not use the pre-printed labels that stick on the document – they will be rejected by the Montana Motor Vehicle Division.

FIVE TIPS FOR NOTARIZING A MONTANA TITLE PERFECTLY – EVERY TIME:

1. Have the signer print and sign his/her name in the spaces provided. It is imperative that every printed appearance of the seller's name be exactly as shown at the top of the title.
2. [For "old style" titles only] After witnessing the seller sign his/her name, place the seller under oath, swearing that the information entered on the title is true and correct.
3. Complete the notarial certificate. Be sure you print the name of the person(s) for whom you are performing the notarization. NOTE: Many of the older versions of the title do not have spaces for the venue – you must enter it wherever you can fit it in.
4. Affix your seal/stamp in the space provided on new titles or in the lien holder section as shown in the top image on the older versions.
5. Montana notaries need not re-enter the identifying information that is contained in the seal/stamp. You should line through the spaces as shown.

IMPORTANT!

WHEN THE TITLE IS MADE OUT TO A BUSINESS OR WILL BE SIGNED IN A REPRESENTATIVE CAPACITY

When notarizing a title that has been issued to a business, or for an individual who is signing on behalf of another person, you and the signer MUST enter: 1. The name of the person or entity shown on the title; 2. The name of the person who is actually signing the title in your presence; and 3. The capacity in which they are signing. For example:

"Fred's Plumbing, Inc. by Fred Smith, President"

"Aqatha Smith by Walter Smith as Personal Representative"

See page 17 of this handbook for more information

NOTARIZING A TITLE WHEN ONE OF THE NAMED OWNERS IS DECEASED

Hands-down, the most frequent question received by the secretary of state's office is, "My customer has a title that is made out to an owner who is deceased. He has the death certificate and a Power of Attorney. How do I notarize it?" The answer is pretty straight forward – "You don't!" A death certificate is not a valid ID document (no picture, no signature, and no "body" either!) and remember - a Power of Attorney automatically terminates upon the death of the principal. If the person appearing to the notary has probate papers naming them as the Personal Representative, Administrator, or Executor of the Estate, etc., the person can sign in a representative capacity and the title can be notarized. Otherwise you should direct the signer to take the title to the County Treasurer's office or to contact Motor Vehicle Services in Helena for further assistance.

APPROVED LOOSE NOTARIAL CERTIFICATE FOR MONTANA MOTOR VEHICLE TITLES

The Title and Registration Bureau of the Motor Vehicle Division has determined that titles which require a separate notarial certificate for a subsequent signer may be handled in one of two ways:

1. The notary may handwrite a complete notarial certificate on the face of the title (usually in the lienholder section) if room is available. The notarial language (i.e., "Signed before me..." or "Subscribed and affirmed before me..." etc.) should be exactly as shown on the preprinted certificate on that title.
2. A separate "notarial certificate" as shown below may be completed and attached to the original title.

This form is to be filled out completely and attached to the title if needed. A note should be added to the title indicating a loose certificate is attached, such as: "Notarial Certificate for _____ (name of signer) _____ attached." A similar note should be entered in your journal.

NOTARIZING DOCUMENTS WRITTEN IN A FOREIGN LANGUAGE

The Secretary of State's Office is frequently asked if Montana notaries may notarize a document that is written in a foreign language. And the answer is generally "Maybe." The language that a document is written in is not the most important factor in determining whether or not you can perform the requested notarial act.

It is absolutely critical that you, first and foremost, READ the notarial certificate and clearly understand what you are being asked to do before you agree to the notarization. Many documents from foreign countries have notarial certificates that may be incorporated as part of the document – don't just look at the bottom of the document or on the last page. Be particularly diligent when asked to notarize something written in a language you don't read, but don't reject the request on that basis alone. If the notarial certificate is not in English, you must have it translated before going forward. Once you can read the notarial certificate, you simply go through the normal "checklist":

- Require the personal appearance of the signer.
- Review the document to determine the type of document and type of notarial act required. You can take an acknowledgement, witness a signature, perform a jurat, make a certified copy of some documents, certify to certain facts, or that a person is alive, but that's where your authority ends. Notaries in many other countries have broader authority than American/Montana notaries, and sometimes the documents call for the notary to verify facts or conditions beyond what is allowed by our laws. Be particularly aware that some documents have the notarial certificate embedded within the text of the document that indicates that the notary has performed functions such as explaining the applicable laws of the foreign country to the signer. You must refuse to complete those certificates.
- Identify the signer as the person who is supposed to sign the document. You are required to apply the same criteria for determining identity for foreign language documents as for any other – personal knowledge or satisfactory evidence (documentary proof or credible witness). The difference is that often the signer may not have a driver's license or other ID from Montana or the United States. That's okay! As long as you are able to read the information on the ID and use it to identify the person in front of you as being the person who is supposed to sign the document, you can use a foreign ID, such as the passport. You also have the right to ask for more than one piece of identification. Many non-citizens will have a "green card", which is certainly an acceptable ID. If the signer presents you with an ID you cannot read, such as a card written in Russian, Chinese, or Arabic, for instance, you may either request additional identification or you should refuse the request.
- Determine that the signer is signing the document knowingly and willingly for the purposes intended.
- Complete the journal entry and the notarial certificate.

Regardless of the language the document is written in, the notarial certificate must be in English in order for you, as a Montana notary public, to complete it. Even if you are fluent in another language, you must use English for all notarial acts. Most importantly – NEVER "sign and stamp" any document that does not have a full notarial certificate that complies with Montana law!

You may certify copies of certain foreign language documents using the same process and criteria as you would for any other document. See pages 19 - 20 for more information on certifying copies.

NOTARIZING/CERTIFYING RECORDS TO BE SENT TO A FOREIGN COUNTRY (APOSTILLES AND AUTHENTICATIONS)

The Montana Secretary of State's office provides state certification for notarized or certified documents that are to be sent to, or used in, a foreign country. Both types of certification – apostille and authentication – verify that the notary public, clerk of court, clerk and recorder, or vital records administrator is authorized to provide the notarization or certification and that he/she has done so in accordance with Montana laws. Whether the document requires an apostille or authentication depends completely on which country will be receiving the document. The Montana Secretary of State's office has adopted a single, universal form that meets the requirements of the Hague Convention for apostilles and has been approved by the U. S. Department of State for authentications. We can only provide certifications of Montana notaries public or Montana notarial officers as listed above.

If you are asked to notarize something that will be submitted for either type of certification, there is nothing special that you are being asked to do – except do the notarial certificate 100% correctly! As long as you follow the appropriate instructions as provided in this handbook and complete a full notarial certificate, the requested state certification can be provided.

Based on the experience of the Secretary of State’s office, there are some common errors that cause the documents to be returned. Be aware of the following:

- If you are asked to certify a copy of a document, refer to the information on pages 19 – 20 of this handbook before complying with the request. Be sure you are authorized to certify the document and then be sure to do so properly.
- Printable notarial certificates for certifying a copy of a document can be downloaded from our website at <https://sosmt.gov/notary/forms>.
- In most cases you will be notarizing someone’s signature. All the notary rules apply in those cases:
  - Make sure there is a signature to notarize.
  - Make sure you witnessed the signing or the acknowledgment of the signature. The person who signed the document must have personally appeared to you.
  - Complete a full notarial certificate – even if the preprinted form does not require certain information.
  - If there is no preprinted notarial certificate, ask the customer what kind of notarization is required (see Chapter 4 of this handbook). If the customer does not know, advise him or her to find out from the entity requesting the document or the author of the document.

SPECIAL NOTE: Notarizing and/or Certifying Official School Records for Foreign Use – (See examples on next page.)

State-certified copies of school transcripts or diplomas are frequently requested for foreign exchange students. Any notary may certify a copy of a diploma from any school if the original is presented.

Transcripts require an additional step before the apostille or authentication can be issued because they are considered “public records”.

1. An authorized school official (Principal, Registrar, etc.) must certify the document:

- Sample wording for school official certifying an original school document:

On     (date)    , I the undersigned, do hereby certify that this is a true and original     (specify the type of document)     issued by     (name of school)    .

[Signature of school official]

[Printed name and official title]

- Sample wording for school official certifying a copy of a school document:

On     (date)    , I the undersigned, do hereby certify that this is a true and unaltered copy of the original     (specify the type of document)     issued by     (name of school)    .

[Signature of school official]

[Printed name and official title]

2. A notary public must then notarize the school official’s signature using a certificate for a signature witness.

EXAMPLES

Certification of Transcript

We have created a specific form that we recommend be used for the procedure explained above for certifying and notarizing a transcript or report card for an exchange student. This form provides the certification statement for the school official to complete and sign, as well as the notarial certificate for the notary to complete, sign, stamp, and attach to the transcript.

Copies of this form may be downloaded from our website.

Certification of Diploma

Diplomas are considered "private documents" and therefore Montana notaries may make a copy of an original diploma and certify the copy. The notarial certificate will have to be handwritten, or a pre-printed form will have to be attached, since there will not be any certificate language on the copy. Copies of larger diplomas will take a full page, so the notarial certificate should be placed on the back.

If you have any questions, please call our office. Because these documents almost always require state certification (Apostille or Authentication), an incorrect notarization will delay the transmittal of the document to the student's home country and may delay the student's further education.

NOTARIZING FOR SIGNERS WITH DISABILITIES OR SPECIAL SIGNATURES

There may be a circumstance when a person is physically unable to sign his or her name on a document but needs a notarization. Several options exist in such cases: signature by mark, signature by stamp, signature by electronic means, and signature by third party.

Signature by Mark, Stamp, or Device. “Signature” is defined in Montana law as “a tangible symbol or an electronic signature that evidences the signing of a record.” What this means to a notary is that a person who uses a mark, stamp, or an electronic signing device to sign a document can have that signature notarized just as if it was signed with pen and ink. The same rules apply: If the document calls for the person to sign in front of you (signature witness or jurat), then you must see the signature be affixed to the document; if the document calls for an acknowledgement, you have to verify the person’s signature by comparing it to another example – such as the one that must be made in your journal – as well as take the signer’s verbal acknowledgement. You need not indicate how the signature was made when completing the notarial certificate, but you should indicate that detail in your journal entry as “other information.”

Signature by Third Party. If an individual is physically unable to sign a document, Montana law allows the individual to direct another person, other than the notary, to sign the individual’s name for him or her. Obviously, both the signer and the person whom he/she directs to sign their name must be physically present during the notarization. The notary then has to modify the notarial certificate to include the phrase, “Signature affixed by (name of other individual) at the direction of (name of individual named in the document)” or words to that effect. This is an example of how such a signature and notarization would look.

The “signer’s signature” in your journal should also be made by the third party, and you should include an notation indicating the signature of the named party was made by the third party at the direction of the named party.

Remember, in all situations requiring another person’s assistance, that person must be an unbiased, independent third party who is not in any way a beneficiary to the transaction.

TECHNOLOGY BASED NOTARIZATIONS: REMOTE, R.O.N., and IPEN

There are four ways in which a notarization involving a signature (acknowledgments, signature witnessing, and jurats) may be performed in Montana: Traditional, IPEN, RON, and Remote. It is absolutely critical that notaries understand what each type of notarization is, what the requirements and limitations are, and how to properly perform each method of notarization. There is a great deal of misunderstanding and misuse of these terms – they are not interchangeable and notaries must be absolutely certain that they understand specifically what each method involves and what the situation or request really requires.

DEFINITIONS and CONDITIONS

Traditional Notarization – This is the type of notarization that has been done by notaries for hundreds of years, although modern technology may be involved in a traditional notarization as well. Generally, a traditional notarization involves:

- ✓ Physical presence of the signer(s) and the notary
- ✓ Paper (tangible) document
- ✓ “Wet” signatures of the signer(s) and the notary (Although the signer may use a stamp to sign the document or present a digitally signed paper document for the notary to sign with a wet signature.)
- ✓ Ink impression of the notary’s seal/stamp

In-Person Electronic Notarization – IPEN – This type of notarization, sometimes called “eNotarization” has been around for almost 20 years, and has been legal in Montana since 2015. Montana notaries must perform IPEN notarizations within the state of Montana. IPEN involves:

- ✓ Physical presence of the signer(s) and the notary
- ✓ Electronic document
- ✓ Digital signatures of the signer and the notary
- ✓ Digital notary seal

Remote Online Notarization – R.O.N. – This type of notarization may be performed by Montana notaries beginning October 1, 2019. The most unique element of R.O.N. is that the signer and the notary appear to one another by means of communications technology – live, two-way, audio-visual transmission. The notary must be physically located in Montana; the signer can be anywhere in the world. R.O.N. involves:

- ✓ Personal appearance via communication technology of the signer(s) and the notary
- ✓ Electronic document
- ✓ Digital signatures of the signer and the notary
- ✓ Digital notary seal

Remote Notarization – sometimes referred to as R.I.N. – Remote Ink Notarization - Montana is one of only two states that allow the remote notarization of tangible documents. The notary must be physically located in Montana; the signer can be anywhere in the world. Remote notarization involves:

- ✓ Personal appearance via communication technology of the signer(s) and the notary
- ✓ Paper (tangible) document, which has been signed by the principal either electronically or by hand, and subsequently delivered to the notary (the notary has the actual signed document)
- ✓ Wet signature of the the notary
- ✓ Ink impression of the notary’s seal/stamp
- ✓ Acknowledgments are the only notarial act that can be performed in this manner

REQUIREMENTS FOR PERFORMING TECHNOLOGY BASED NOTARIZATIONS

Registration

Notaries who wish to perform IPEN, R.O.N. or Remote Notarizations must:

- ✓ Select one or more electronic notarization systems or communication technologies
- ✓ Complete a course of instruction provided by the technology provider on the use of the system
- ✓ Complete a training course approved by the Montana secretary of state covering the laws, rules, and ethics of technology-based notarization
- ✓ Pass an examination based on the course
- ✓ Update your commission status via the online notary filing system with required documentation
- ✓ Notaries may register to use multiple platforms

System Requirements

- ✓ Must provide simultaneous visual and audio transmission
- ✓ Must provide evidence of any change or tampering to a record
- ✓ Must ensure integrity in the creation, transmittal, storage, or authentication of electronic records or signatures
- ✓ Signal must be live, real-time
- ✓ Transmission must be recorded

Compliant Notary Certificates for R.O.N. or Remote Notarizations

- ✓ Principal located outside the U.S. – §1-5-610(9), MCA
- ✓ Principal located within the U.S. – §1-5-610(10), MCA

METHODS OF IDENTIFICATION FOR REMOTE and REMOTE ONLINE NOTARIZATIONS

Montana law requires that all remote and remote online notarizations utilize “multi-factor” identification using two or more different types of technologies if the signer is not identified by personal knowledge. The currently approved types of identification technologies are dynamic knowledge-based authentication (DKBA), public key certificate, identity proofing, credential analysis and remote presentation and blockchain. These terms are defined in statute and in the glossary at the end of this handbook.

Notaries should be aware of the types of identification technologies, but it is actually the communications technology provider who is responsible for identifying the signer using these technologies prior to the active remote session. Your system provider will train you in your responsibilities for using the identification methods their system employs. In many, if not most of the remote transactions, the notary will not be brought into the session until the technology-based identification process has been successfully completed. However, the notary will most often have the opportunity to review the identification credential presented by the signer for a final ID check.

The notary has final authority to accept or deny the identification for any remote or RON transaction.

NOTARY TECHNOLOGY PROVIDERS for MONTANA

Approved technology providers are listed on our website. If you are aware of a provider that is not listed, please contact us. This is a dynamic market and new platforms are being added constantly and the website may not be completely current. Notaries may use one or more of the approved technologies, but the notary cannot be required to utilize a technology for which the notary has not been certified.

(4) A commission to act as a notary public authorizes the notary public, as provided in 1-5-619, to perform notarial acts in any county in the state or in any bordering state if the border state recognizes the notary's authority within that state. The commission does not provide the notary public any immunity or benefit conferred by the laws of this state on public officials or employees.

1-5-606. Notarial acts under authority of federally recognized Indian tribes.

(1) A notarial act performed under the authority and in the jurisdiction of a federally recognized Indian tribe has the same effect as if performed by a notarial officer of this state if the notarial act performed in the jurisdiction of the tribe is performed by:

A notary public may perform notarial acts in this state only during the period that a valid assurance is on file with the secretary of state.

(e) provide certification that the applicant has passed the examination and completed the education requirements in 1-5-620; and

(5) The secretary of state shall issue a commission for a 4-year term as a notary public to an applicant for a new or a renewed commission who has complied with this section.

(6) An individual may not have more than one Montana notary public commission in effect at the same time.

1-5-620. Examination and education of notary public — fee. (1) An applicant for a new or renewed commission as a notary public in this state shall pass an examination administered by the secretary of state or by an entity approved by the secretary of state. 1-5-621. Grounds to deny — terms for refusing to renew, revoking, suspending, or conditioning notary public commissions. (1) The secretary of state may deny, refuse to renew, revoke, suspend, or impose a condition on a commission as a notary public for any act or omission that demonstrates the individual lacks the honesty, integrity, competence, or reliability to act as a notary public, including:

(a) failure to comply with the provisions of this part;

(b) a fraudulent, dishonest, or deceitful misstatement or omission in the application submitted to the secretary of state for a commission as a notary public;

(c) pending release from supervision, a conviction of the applicant or notary public of any felony or crime involving fraud, dishonesty, or deceit, although conviction of a criminal offense is not a complete bar to receiving a commission if the individual's full rights have been restored;

(d) admission by the applicant or notary public or a finding in any legal proceeding or disciplinary action of the applicant's or notary public's fraud, dishonesty, or deceit;

(e) failure by the notary public to discharge any duty required of a notary public, whether the provisions of this part, rules of the secretary of state, or any state or federal law;

(f) use of false or misleading advertising or representation by the notary public representing that the notary public has a duty, right, or privilege that the notary does not have;

(g) violation by the notary public of a rule of the secretary of state regarding a notary public;

(h) denial, refusal to renew, revocation, suspension, or conditioning of a notary public commission in another state; and

(i) failure of the notary public to maintain an assurance, as provided in 1-5-619.

(2) The secretary of state may require a notary public who has violated a provision of this part or a rule of the secretary of state implementing a provision of this part to complete a notary public education class approved by the secretary.

(3) A notary who is convicted of or pleads guilty or no contest to a felony crime involving fraud, dishonesty, or deceit shall notify the secretary of state within 30 days of the conviction or plea.

(4) If the secretary of state denies, refuses to renew, revokes, suspends, or imposes conditions on a commission as a notary public, the applicant or notary public is entitled to contest the action in accordance with the Montana Administrative Procedure Act.

(5) The authority of the secretary of state to deny, refuse to renew, revoke, suspend, or impose conditions on a commission as a notary public does not prevent an individual from seeking and obtaining other criminal or civil remedies provided by law.

1-5-622. Authority and requirements to refuse to perform notarial act. (1) A notarial officer shall refuse to perform a notarial act if the notarial officer is not satisfied that:

(a) the individual executing the record is competent or has the capacity to execute the record; or

(b) use an electronic notarization system or communication technology that does not meet the requirements of this part or standards adopted by rule.

1-5-623. Signature if principal unable to sign. (1) If a principal intending to execute a record is physically unable to sign a record, the principal may direct an individual other than the notarial officer to sign the principal's name on the record. The notarial officer shall insert "Signature affixed by (name of the other individual) at the direction of (name of principal intending to execute the record)" or words with similar intent.

(2) A notary public shall record in the notary's journal the name and address of the individual who signs the record as well as the name and address of the principal unable to sign.

1-5-624. The validity of a notarial act under this part does not prevent an aggrieved person from seeking to invalidate the record or transaction that is the subject of the notarial act or from seeking other remedies based on the laws of this state, other than this part, or the laws of the United States. This section does not validate a purported notarial act performed by an individual who does not have the authority to perform notarial acts.

1-5-625. Prohibited acts — advertising requirements. (1) A notary public may not:

(a) notarize the notary's own signature;

(h) unless the notary public is an attorney licensed to practice law in this state, use the term "notario" or "notario publico".

(2) A notary public who is a partner, stockholder, director, officer, or employee of a partnership or corporation and is individually named in the record or who signs a record as a representative of that partnership or corporation may not notarize the signature of any individual on that record.

(3) A commission as a notary public does not authorize an individual to:

(a) assist persons in drafting legal records, give legal advice, or otherwise practice law;

(b) act as an immigration consultant or an expert on immigration matters;

(c) represent a person in a judicial or administrative proceeding relating to immigration to the United States or United States citizenship or related matters; or

(d) receive compensation for performing any of the activities listed in this subsection (3).

(4) (a) A notary public who is not an attorney licensed to practice law in this state shall provide in advertising or other representations regarding an offering of notarial services, whether oral or written, used in broadcast media, print media, or on the internet a statement as provided in subsection (4)(b) or an alternate statement authorized or required by the secretary of state. The statement must be prominently displayed and in each language used in the advertisement or representation. If the form of advertisement or representation is not broadcast media, print media, or the internet and does not permit inclusion of the statement required by this subsection because of its size, the statement must be displayed prominently or provided at the place of performance of the notarial act before the notarial act is performed.

(b) To meet the requirements of subsection (4)(a), a notary public who is not an attorney licensed to practice law in this state shall use either an alternate statement authorized or required by the secretary of state or the following statement:

“I am not an attorney licensed to practice law in this state. I am not allowed to draft legal records, give advice on legal matters, including immigration, or charge a fee for those activities.”

1-5-626. Fees for notarial acts — collection of fees. (1) A notary public may charge a fee not to exceed $10 for each notarial act:

- (a) performing an acknowledgment;
- (b) witnessing a signature;
- (c) executing a verification on oath or affirmation (jurat);
- (d) certifying a transcript;
- (e) certifying a copy;
- (f) performing a certification of fact; or
- (g) performing another notarial act authorized by law, unless charging a fee for the act is expressly prohibited by that law.

(2) (a) Subject to subsections (2)(b) through (2)(d), a notary public may charge an additional fee, as provided by rule, to:

- (i) perform a notarial act using an electronic notarization system or communication technology; or

(5) A notary public who is employed by a private entity may enter into an agreement with the entity under which fees collected by the notary public under this section are collected by and accrue to the entity.

(6) A public official may collect the fees described in this section for notarial acts performed in the course of employment by notaries public who are employed by the public body.

1-5-627. Database of notaries public. The secretary of state shall maintain an electronic database of notaries public:

- (1) through which a person may verify the authority of a notary public to perform notarial acts;
- (2) that indicates whether a notary public has notified the secretary of state that the notary public will be performing notarial acts on electronic records; and
- (3) that describes any active or pending administrative or disciplinary action against the notary public.

1-5-628. Rulemaking. (1) The secretary of state may adopt rules to implement this part.

(2) Rules adopted regarding the performance of notarial acts with respect to electronic records, electronic notarization systems, or communication technology may not require or accord legal status or effect to the implementation or application of a specific system, technology, or technical specification.

(3) The rules may:

- (a) prescribe the manner of performing notarial acts regarding tangible and electronic records;
- (b) include provisions to ensure that any change to or tampering with a record bearing a certificate of a notarial act is self-evident;
- (c) include provisions to ensure integrity in the creation, transmittal, storage, or authentication of electronic records or signatures;

- (d) prescribe the process of granting, renewing, conditioning, denying, suspending, or revoking a notary public commission and ensuring the trustworthiness of an individual holding a commission as notary public;

1-5-630. Solemnization of marriage authorized. As provided in 40-1-301 and subject to rules adopted by the secretary of state, a notary public may solemnize a marriage.

1-5-631. Evidence of authenticity of notarial act for record sent to foreign country. (1) The authenticity of the official seal and signature of a Montana notarial officer may be evidenced by a certificate of authority from the secretary of state confirming the authority of a Montana notarial officer to perform a notarial act on a record that will be sent to a foreign country. The certificate must be in a form prescribed by the Hague Convention of October 5, 1961, or in a form approved by the United States department of state.

(2) A certificate of authority may not be issued for a record that is intended for use within the United States, including its territories, or by a federally recognized tribe.

(3) The secretary of state may refuse to issue a certificate of authority if the secretary of state has reason to believe that the record may be used within the United States, including its territories, or by a federally recognized tribe, or for any unlawful, fraudulent, or improper purpose.
